Negro Refutes Baker's Claims

Airman First Class W. B. Brim says he does not understand why there has to be any "preparation" for a Negro to live wherever he pleases in the U.S.

The Negro airman who came to McCoy Air Force Base here Nov. 5 after 15 months overseas in Spain was referring to a quotation of Assistant City Solicitor John G. Baker, chairman of the Mayor's Advisory Committee on Interracial Relations.

BAKER WAS QUOTED in yesterday's Sentinel as having told members of the committee, "You can't do this without some preparation," in reference to Brim's having moved his family into a white neighborhood last week.

"There's no such thing as preparation," Brim told The Sentinel yesterday. "You either do something or don't do something."

He also denied having told Baker "I don't want to be a hero" when the interracial committee chairman visited him Saturday night at the 1019 N. Hampton apartment he had rented from Mrs. Florence White, 1519 E. Washington.

Rich's Considers Orlando Store

Rich's of Orlando? There is a spark of hope that Downtown Orlando may be the site of an outlet of the nationally known Atlanta, Ga., department store, largest in the South.

This was the comment of Lamar Thomas, Orlando traffic engineer, on his return last night from a conference with Rich's officials in Atlanta yesterday.

Thomas, a former Atlantan, was commissioned by Mayor Robert S. Carr to conduct "preliminary talks" on the possibility of the local outlet of the chain.

"THERE IS A SPARK ... a fire burning," Thomas said of store officials' reaction to the suggestion of an Orlando store.

Carr said earlier yesterday he was unable to leave the city at the time and asked Thomas to represent him in the talks. Also in Atlanta yesterday was Byron King, president of Orange Buick Co., who Carr said also met with store officials.

Commissioner Comes Out For Downtown

City Commissioner George Barker said last night that Orlando should build a convention hall in Exposition Park before it erects a controversial music hall in Loch Haven Park.

"Present convention facilities are inadequate," Barker said, "and the economic well being of the entire city of Orlando will be enhanced by the addition of a convention hall."

BARKER'S STATEMENT is the first break in the solid wall of opposition from city hall to a citizens' movement urging the building of a convention hall in the "central Orlando area."

Mayor Robert S. Carr and the city administration have mood ahead with plans to build a "music hall" in Loch Haven Park, remotely located in northeast Orlando.

Barker, in a statement to The Sentinel, said he believes the city needs and wants both a music hall in Loch Haven and a centrally located convention hall, but that if it is a question of which comes first, the convention hall should go up before the music hall.

Orlando-Miami Pike's Ready

By ROBERT W. DELANEY
Sentinel Staff

TALLAHASSEE — Traffic will be open to southbound motorists on the Sunshine State Parkway from Orlando to Miami for the first time beginning at noon today, state turnpike authority Chairman John Phillips said late yesterday.

Gov. Farris Bryant, who conferred with Phillips yesterday several times, called the opening of the 41-mile stretch of toll road from Fort Pierce to Yeehaw Junction an added safety benefit for all weekend motorists in that area.

Bryant made particular reference to football fans who might be traveling from East Central Florida to Miami for the University of Florida game in the Orange Bowl tomorrow night against the University of Miami.

Phillips said last minute efforts to have the superhighway opened for all traffic today were unsuccessful but "we still hope to be able to open it to northbound traffic the entire distance by Saturday night."

This means that beginning today motorists will be able to get on the four-laned superhighway in Orlando and travel 211 miles to Miami without encountering a traffic light.

Fred Karl, Daytona Beach attorney and Democratic candidate for governor, chipped hard both at fellow gubernatorial potentials and at upcoming issues in a press conference at the Cherry Plaza Hotel here yesterday afternoon.

The Volusia County legislator had this to say about: Gov. Bryant—he'll run.

Fred Dickinson—will be virtually destroyed as a candidate if Bryant does run, because he is drawing a large measure of his support from Bryant's 1960 backers. Dickinson may even pull out if the governor tosses his hat back into the ring.

Woman Calls Lawyer 'Fiend'

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI)—A woman bystander angrily shouted "Murderer ... Fiend" at T. Eugene Thompson yesterday as he ended another day of ordeal in his trial on charges of murdering his wife.

The small, dark woman, who bore a striking resemblance to Thompson's paramour, divorcee Jackie Oleson, spat out the words at the dimple-cheeked criminal court attorney when he strode from the Hennepin County district courtroom between his lawyers.

THOMPSON WALKED a little faster but remained impassive in the face of the epithets.

The incident climaxed trial sessions in which three locks of hair, a white-stone tea ring, a blood-stained butcher knife, a piece of plastic pistol grip and a damaged door night chain gave mute evidence of Carol Thompson's battle for life against a vicious killer.

Thompson Called Fiend By Woman

Police detectives and a crime laboratory chief gave testimony indicating that Mrs. Thompson, 34-year-old mother of four and a loyal church worker, fought doggedly against her assailant and was left to die in the front hallway of her fashionable St. Paul home.

She staggered from the house through snow early March 6 while her assassin went up stairs to wash away tell-tale blood, according to the story reconstructed by the police witnesses, and collapsed at a neighbor's home three doors away mumbled about the "knife in my throat."

The disturbed woman who cried out at Thompson refused to identify herself to newsmen. She described herself as "just an innocent bystander who does not want to get involved."

SPECTATORS WHO daily crowd the hallway to watch Thompson leave the courtroom said they did not know whether the woman had listened to yesterday's testimony. She was accompanied by a man and two children.

A court aid said the woman looked much like Mrs. Olesen, 27, but was not the "other woman" of the trial. Mrs. Olesen testified last week that Thompson romanced her in secret rendezvous over a two-year period but that she saw him only once, except on business, during the 11 months before Mrs. Thompson was slain.

Prosecutor William B. Randall introduced in evidence yesterday a broken, 30-caliber German luger pistol which the state contends was used to bludgeon the slaying victim. With it he introduced three live bullets which were found in the struggle-marked front entryway of the Thompson home.

Police Detective Vernon R. Phillips told the jury that Sheldon Morris, powerfully built convict known as the "Singing Canary" of the trial, directed police to the spot near Elk River, Minn., north of Minneapolis, where the gun was found.

PHILLIPS SAID Morris directed searchers down a dirt road to a swampy area and they found the luger "laying on the ground amongst swamp grass." Detective Wilfred E. Dugas said two locks of hair were found on the floor of the hallway. A blood-spattered third lock was stuck to the smeared wall, he said.

The tea ring was beneath a scuffed hall rug, Dugas said. Mrs. Thompson's hands were ringless when she was admitted to Ancker Hospital.

Dugas said fingerprint experts found no useful prints on any of the articles, elsewhere in the house, or on the luger. Theodore R. Elzerman, chief of the St. Paul police laboratory, dispassionately described, item by item and blood stain by blood stain, the appearance of the Thompson home as he saw it an hour and a half after Mrs. Thompson appeared, battered, slashed and dying, at her neighbor's home.

THOMPSON is accused of masterminding a plot to kill his wife so he could collect more than $1 million insurance and free himself to marry Mrs. Olesen.

Testimony was delayed twice yesterday while District Judge Rolf Fosseen conferred with attorneys, including the lawyers of Norman J. Mastrian, a police character accused of being the "middleman" in the alleged conspiracy.

It was reported they were arguing legal points on whether Mastrian would be produced in court and perhaps called to testify. The state's star witness, Dick W. C. Anderson, a hard-drinking seldom-employed salesman, has confessed the actual killing.

Anderson, presumably was ready to identify Mastrian as the alleged go-between that hired him to kill Carol and make the slaying look like an accidental drowning in a bathtub.

ELZERMAN testified that he found the trim on the left side of the front door pulled out, at the point where the night chain had been attached, and saw bits of plaster and paint at the base of the door.

Police believe Carol fled from her second floor bedroom, her head already battered, staggered down the stairs and tried to get out the front door.

The night chain was latched, the prosecution contends, and Carol apparently was caught there and again beaten and stabbed. The state says she somehow managed to escape out a side door to a neighbor's home after her killer left her for dead and went to wash.

Elzerman said there were pools of blood in the foyer near the front door, blood smears on the side door, and bloodstains in the kitchen and in the upstairs master bedroom, bathroom and hallway.

THE BLOODSTAINED butcher knife lay across a silverware divider tray in a kitchen drawer, he said. On the floor of the bedroom, he said, he found a piece of plastic.

Prosecutor William B. Randall produced a state exhibit and Elzerman identified it as the piece he had found — apparent part of a handmade grip which had broken off a German luger pistol. The state contends the pistol was the bludgeon weapon.

The crime laboratory chief said there was four or five inches of lukewarm water in the bathtub, bloodstains on the sink, and a 14-inch long piece of red rubber hose beneath the sink.

The state contends that the killer was to knock out Carol with a blow with the rubber wall telephone and then down her in the tub.

Book Ruled Pornographic

TOKYO (AP) — The Tokyo higher court reversed a lower court verdict yesterday and ruled the Japanese translation of "Les Peripeties Du Vice" by Marquis De Sade is pornographic literature. The court fined publisher Kyoji Ishii 100,000 yen ($277.77) and translator Takihiko Shibusawa 70,000 yen ($194.44).

Presiding Judge Shunpei Kano said the Japanese translation is "obscene literature, arousing sexual stimulation."

The defendants said they will appeal to the supreme court.

Negro GI Says Baker's Claims False

"I never said I didn't want to be a hero. I told him I came looking for a house only. I wasn't trying to start any new trend or anything," said Brim.

He also said it wasn't true that McCoy Air Force Base had promised to "back him up all the way and would give him the money he needed" as Baker is alleged to have said in comments on the affair.

"THEY MERELY gave me advice on my legal rights. They did not say to move or not to move."

The Detroit, Mich., airman said he told Baker if there was any objection in the neighborhood he would agree to move. And Baker found him a new apartment at 2912 Orange Center Boulevard.

"I also told him that if there was any violence I might as well stay, that I was not afraid," Brim said. He said he did not get word he was to move until Monday and then that he had to be out by Tuesday.

HE SAID he asked Baker why the Negro spokesman for the interracial committee was not told of the situation and received no explanation. "So I called Mr. Johnson, the president of the local NAACP myself," he said.

Brim, who is with the civil engineers in the 306 Combat Support Group at McCoy, said he has never before encountered discrimination.

Karl Foresees Bryant In Race, High Out

Scott Kelly — would be adversely affected by a Bryant re-entry, but hasn't evidenced a great deal of strength from any direction. The gubernatorial hopeful went on to predict a Bryant campaign would hurt him less than any of his opponents because he is already drawing most of his support from non-Bryant circles.

Although he asserted the big issue of the campaign will be the attitude of the candidate himself, Karl acknowledged that reapportionment should be the most important question that will be raised in the coming campaign.

"I THINK THE house is fairly well apportioned," he declared, but added, "it is the senate that is in such a deplorable condition. Florida is 49th in the list of states so far as fairness of senate apportionment is concerned — next to worst in the whole country."

"With less than 20 per cent of the people electing a majority of the senate and controlling the policies of the state, this body cannot and is not representative of the thinking and the desires of the people."

"SO SOMETHING has to be done to break that hold that the smaller counties have over the senate and the people." "I think every candidate who gets in the race ought to declare himself on whether he is satisfied with the unfair representation of the status quo."

Threat of the Republican party in the 1964 gubernatorial race hinges, Karl said, "on the national candidates and the

Flood Control Funds Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — Authorization of $2 million for work in the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District was part of the $950 million River Basin Authorization Bill approved yesterday by the Senate Public Works Committee.

The bill would authorize work in 10 river basins for a two-year period ending June 30, 1965, as compared with a one-year approach taken by the House last month in approving a $145 million measure for seven river basins.

In the House bill $4 million was requested for the Florida project for one year.

Youth Group Opens 2-Day Meeting Here

By ROBERT W. DELANEY

TALLAHASSEE — Gov. Farris Bryant announced yesterday that the Governor's Youth Advisory Council will meet in Orlando today and tomorrow at the Robert Meyer Motor Inn.

The governor has invited members of the council as his guests for dinner at the Cherry Plaza Hotel Saturday night when the guest speaker will be Orlando Sen. Beth Johnson.

BILL CLOUD of Orlando, a representative of the Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y Clubs of Florida, is chairman of the Youth Advisory Council which serves in an advisory capacity on problems of Florida's youth and possible solutions. The council is composed of a representative group of Florida high school students.

Twenty-inch water main sprang leak yesterday during noon hour on Gore St. just east of Orange Ave., creating sizable hole in street and raising pavement width of street for distance of about 150 feet.

Orlando Utilities Commission workmen restored service about 5 p.m.

Stanton said bill might run "several thousand dollars." (Sentinel Photo by Ed Cheek)

Bar Taking District Census

Area May Add Judges

By DAVE HOWELL

Sentinel Staff

Central Florida may get at least one new judge, and maybe more as a result of a special Ninth Judicial Circuit census being undertaken by bar associations in the eight counties comprising the district.

Plans for the census were revealed locally at the monthly luncheon meeting of the Orange County Bar Association at the Downtowner Motel yesterday.

W. H. (BILL) ROBINSON has been named chairman of the Orange County Special Census Committee, Leon Handley, county bar president, announced.

The circuit is entitled to one judge for every 50,000 population, Handley reminded, adding that population in the eight counties has probably been increased by 50,000 to 100,000 or more since the last census in 1960.

"We think we will at least be entitled to one and possibly two more circuit judges," Handley said.

At present, there are five judges in Orange, three in Seminole, two in Brevard, one in Osceola, and three in the southeast area of the judicial district, which takes in Orange, Osceola, Seminole, Brevard, Indian River, St. Lucie,

Board Suspends Medical License Of Dr. White

The Florida Board of Medical Examiners will suspend the medical license of Dr. Bradford White, former Orlando physician.

Reason given for the suspension was understood to be that Dr. White had written prescriptions for narcotic drugs without having a valid federal narcotics tax stamp.

Secretary for the board, Dr. Homer Pearson, Miami, told The Sentinel yesterday the action was taken last Saturday after a hearing in Miami. Dr. White's license to practice will be suspended effective Dec. 1. The board will consider reinstating the doctor when it meets next July.

DR. WHITE PRACTICED here two years ago, but went to Fernandina Beach amid charges from convicted abortionist Jerry Lee Nations that Dr. White had helped him learn the illegal trade and had performed some abortions himself.

Dr. White denied the accusations and no criminal charges were ever filed against him. The medical board, however, held a full hearing on the matter here in July, and found him guilty on four of five claims of abortion, unprofessional conduct by reason of abortion and conspiracy toward abortions.

The board suspended Dr. White's license, but then suspended the suspension, placing him on two years probation.

U.S., Soviets See Agreement On Space Laws

© New York Times

Dispatch To The Sentinel

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — The United States announced yesterday agreement with the Soviet Union on a declaration of legal principles to govern the exploration and use of outer space.

The declaration, another significant step in the effort to keep outer space free of hot and cold wars, was a compromise worked out during protracted negotiations with the Soviet Union and consultations with other United Nations members.

IT WILL BE PUT before the United Nations committee on the peaceful uses of outer space today. If that 28-nation body approves it, as is expected, the declaration will go to the general assembly's political committee and then to the assembly.

All 111 members of the U.N. are represented on both the political committee and the general assembly. Approval by the assembly would bind all the members morally at least, to observe the declaration.

IT SETS FORTH that outer space and the celestial bodies are not subject to national appropriation "by claim of sovereignty, by means of use or occupation, or by any other means."

In the exploration and use of outer space, the declaration says, states shall be guided by international law, including the U.N. charter, in the interest of maintaining international peace and security and promoting international cooperation and understanding.

Leukemia Cured In Experiments

CHICAGO (AP) — A government researcher reported yesterday the first cure of cancer-related acute leukemia in experimental animals by combined treatment with chemicals and radiation.

Dr. Ralph E. Johnson, senior investigator at the National Cancer Institute, Bethesda, Md., said he effected cures in 70 per cent of a group of mice given leukemia-suppressing drugs and then irradiated in the brain and along the spinal column.

"If as indicated by experimental and clinical experience the central nervous system is indeed in some patients the only reservoir of the last few remaining leukemia cells following remission induction with chemotherapy, the possibility of cure in acute leukemia exists today by means of the combined approach," he said.

So far there is no known cure for the blood disease, which strikes children principally.

PRESIDENT AND MRS. KENNEDY ARRIVE IN SAN ANTONIO ... Riding with Texas Gov. and Mrs. John Connally

In Ceremony At San Antonio

JFK Vows Space Bid

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — President Kennedy said yesterday the United States "has tossed its cap over the wall of space — and we have no choice but to follow it."

In remarks prepared for the dedication of the $16 million Aerospace Medical Center — first stop on a three-day tour of the Lone Star State — Kennedy had this to say about the embattled space program:

"There will be setbacks and frustrations and disappointments. There will be pressures for our country to do less and temptations to do something else. But this research must, and will go on. The conquest of space must and will go ahead."

KENNEDY'S TEXAS schedule taking him to San Antonio, Houston and Fort Worth on the first day, was indicative of presidential concern about his chances of carrying the state in the 1964 election.

Another barometer, perhaps, was the presence at his side of Jacqueline Kennedy. The first lady has shown little enthusiasm for campaigning, even of the unofficial sort typified by the Texas journey.

There followed a 15-mile motorcade to the hub of space medicine at San Antonio's Brooks Air Force Base.

Kennedy's text for his appearance at Brooks had a distinctly non-partisan flavor. The President even invited the Republicans, in effect, to start using the term "New Frontier."

"THAT IS NOT A partisan term. It is not the exclusive property of either Democrats or Republicans. It refers instead to this nation's position in history today."

Kennedy said that, in this age, "Doing and daring are required of all who are willing to explore the unknown and test the uncertain in every phase of human endeavor."

"TOO MANY AMERICANS," the President told an audience of about 8,000, "make the mistake of assuming that space research has no value here on earth. Nothing could be farther from the truth." Nor was it true, Kennedy said, that the American effort in space was "a competitor for the natural resources needed to improve our living standards."

Solon Defends Stock Purchase

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a choked voice Rep. John W. Byrnes defended on the floor of the House yesterday the ethics of a highly profitable stock transaction.

The Wisconsin Republican pledged to sell his shares in a Milwaukee mortgage insurance firm that leaped tenfold in value since Byrnes bought them in 1960. He said he would give all but the original purchase price to a scholarship fund in his hometown of Green Bay, although convinced the purchase was completely ethical.

BYRNES, 50, IS the top Republican on the tax-writing ways and means committee, and chairman of the House Republican policy committee. He bought the stock in Mortgage Guaranty Insurance Co. after helping to get a favorable tax ruling for it.

"As far as I was concerned, the purchase had nothing to do with the tax matter," Byrnes said in a voice that trembled at times. He said he had complete faith in Paul Rogan, an executive vice president of the firm, and never knew until last week that he got the stock at a special low price reserved for those in the business.

Airplane Found In Gulf, But Cockpit Empty

KEY WEST, (AP) — The wreck of a U2 plane was found yesterday on the bottom of the Gulf of Mexico. But its cockpit was empty, keeping alive a faint hope that the pilot, Capt. Joe G. Hyde Jr., might somehow have survived the crash.

Presumably returning from a mission over Fidel Castro's Communist Cuba, the high-flying reconnaissance aircraft vanished suddenly from radar scopes at 10:32 a.m. Wednesday some 40 miles northwest of Key West and 180 miles north of the Cuban coast.

It was there that debris was sighted yesterday morning by the searching Coast Guard cutter Nemesis.

BY 11:30 A.M. divers from the Navy salvage vessels Petrel and Shrike were on the wreckage in 100-foot deep water and had confirmed that the pilot was not in the cockpit.

At La Grange, Ga., Hyde's home his mother clung desperately to the belief that her 33-year-old much-decorated son was "living somewhere."

Navy and Coast Guard planes and surface craft plunged into a search for the pilot. But a Navy spokesman said, "I don't hold much hope for him." During the morning, a rumor popped up that a parachute had been sighted, but the Navy denied it.

Both the Defense Department in Washington and the Strategic Air Command headquarters at Omaha said there was no evidence that the sleek, one-man plane which flies at admitted heights of more than 75,000 feet, had met with hostile action over Cuba.
